

“Joe Barresi : Mixing Rock” Press Release

Pasadena, California (July 21st, 2012) : Joe Barresi is one of the best known and most sought-after producers and engineers in the recording industry. His work with bands such as Tool, Queens of The Stone Age, The Melvins, Bad Religion, Kyuss (and many others) have culminated into some of the most influential and successful Rock recordings of our time.

OTM is pleased to announce the immediate availability of “Joe Barresi: Mixing Rock”

“Joe Barresi: Mixing Rock” is the companion release to “Joe Barresi: Tracking Rock” and let’s you experience and hear the unique mixing style of Joe Barresi. Joe uses an SSL 4000 console, his Protools HD rig and a massive assortment of outboard gear.

Joe takes you through the entire mix section by section, shows how he integrates Protools to a large-format SSL mixing console and shows the bussing both outside-the-box and also inside-the-box.

Shot entirely in 1080p video, you’ll get to see exactly how Joe does what he does. In addition to the video, supplementary photographs of all the gear, plus additional information on the SSL console are provided.

The Protools session is provided as well.

Says Joe Barresi:

The guys at OnThe Mark are at it again! I just wanted to say I hope you all get something out of this release---whether its a new way of thinking or even what not to do. This is a cumulation of many years of experimenting/mixing so its tough to portray it all in a few hours, but i think you will walk away with at least some knowledge of how i may approach a mix session and hopefully that process will make your mixes take on a new direction too. All my best

“Joe Barresi: Mixing Rock” is available for online purchase for $75(US) at <http://techbreakfast.com>
